

Call for Papers

Issue 5(1) • April 2017

connexions • international professional communication journal invites you to contribute to issue 5(1) by submitting papers that explore practice, research, pedagogy, methodology, and technology on diverse topics related to international professional communication (IPC) practice and research at local, national, or international levels.

Such topic areas may include, but are not limited to:

- IPC and visual communication (includes intersections of IPC, visual communication, and selected disciplines in the professions—e.g., IPC, visual communication, and applied linguistics in the workplace)
- IPC and ethics
- IPC, environmental and risk management
- IPC, networking and complexity
- IPC and accessibility
- IPC and global education
- IPC, online and print typography
- IPC and ethnography
- IPC, organizational cultures and practices
- IPC and crowdsourcing
- IPC, in-house curriculum and training
- IPC and health communication
- IPC and historiographies
- IPC in allied industries
- IPC, interdisciplinarity and research

Other topics of value to IPC will certainly be considered for this open issue. Prepare manuscripts in accordance with the following expectations of manuscript format, submission, and schedule.

Successful proposals to be developed into

- Original research articles of 5,000 to 7,000 words of body text (excluding references, notes, and appendices).
- Review articles of 3,000 to 5,000 words of body text.
- Focused commentary and industry perspectives articles of 500 to 3,000 words of body text.
- Teaching cases of 3,000 to 5,000 words of body text.

Call for Papers

Issue 5(1) • April 2017

Submission procedures

- Cover page containing your name, institutional affiliation, and email address.
- Prepare the cover page and manuscript on letter or A4 size pages, 1.5 line spacing, and Georgia, 12-point font.
- 500-word proposals for original research articles, review articles, and teaching cases; 250-word proposals for focused commentary and industry perspectives.
- All submissions will be reviewed by at least two readers, whether you are submitting a research article, review article, focused commentary, industry perspective article, or teaching case.
- Email proposals to the Co-Editors at editor@connexionsjournal.org
- Proposals should be sent as a .docx, .doc, or .rtf file attached to an email message with the subject line: "Proposal for connexions 5.1 (Open Issue)."

Schedule

- Submission deadline for manuscript proposals: March 15, 2016
- Notification of proposal acceptances: April 15, 2016
- Submission deadline for first drafts of full manuscripts: June 15, 2016
- Submission deadline for revised drafts of manuscripts: Jan 1, 2016
- Date of publication: April 15, 2016

If you have any questions about your proposal, feel free to contact the Co-Editors.

Thank you for considering writing a paper for connexions • international professional communication journal.

THE CO-EDITORS

Rosário Durão

Department of Communication, Liberal Arts,
Social Sciences
New Mexico Tech
Socorro, NM 87801
United States

Kyle Mattson

Department of Writing
University of Central Arkansas
Conway, AR 72035
United States